How will we approach working as a group?

Idk

Communicating our ideas without fear of ridicule

Fairly distributing workload

Ensuring that we get it done on time

What behaviours will help our group?

Showing up to class, proactively reaching out to team members

Sharing ideas with each other

What behaviours will harm our group?

Not showing up to class

Not equally contributing

Not saying anything in group chats?

Putting zip bombs as links

How will we handle disagreements?

Bring it up with group first, see what everyone has to say and find a middle ground that works for the majority

How will we make sure everyone has a chance to contribute?

Assign jobs at the start of the task, check up with peers on progress of the job

Provide feedback wherever possible so that we cultivate a healthy working dynamic

Case study stuff

Grafton community centre:
Grafton South Aboriginal Early Years Centre is an Aboriginal community-controlled early childhood centre located in Grafton, NSW. The centre supports families from nearby communities, small settlements and outlying properties. The centre offers long day care, preschool/kindergarten, family support, transition-to-school activities, cultural learning programs and referral connections to health and community services. Like many Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander-led early childhood services, it aims to help children grow up strong in culture, connected to family and community, and ready to thrive at school.

The centre is led by community and governed through an Aboriginal community-controlled structure. Staff include educators, Aboriginal family support workers, a centre director, visiting allied professionals and local cultural knowledge holders. The service is respected because it is seen as a place where children are not only cared for and educated, but also valued, affirmed and supported in their identity. SNAICC's current guidance makes clear that Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander-led early childhood education and care services play a distinctive role in strengthening cultural identity, supporting families facing vulnerability, and integrating learning with health, family and early intervention supports.

As part of its future planning, the centre is exploring how technology may help support its operations and services while maintaining a culturally safe, child-safe and community-led approach. The centre has engaged your team to help understand organisational priorities, stakeholder needs and opportunities for future technology support before any technology decisions are made.

Activity 2 source table

Sources	What it helps us understand	Perspective represented	Limitations or remaining questions
Care For Kids	Shows the rating compared with the schools in the area and whether it is meeting the current requirements or working towards.	Has a NQS breakdown (National Quality Standard), showing that the centre is working towards what the suburb average is meeting	Limited coverage of what the reviews are saying, what critiques did they have?
Facebook page for AbSec	Explains how the preschool connects the children further with their indigenous heritage	The Aboriginal child and family secretariat	Limited description on the day-to-day operations of Gummyaney
Starting Blocks	Government website explaining short points on the service quality ratings of the centre, its last regulatory visit, and potential	Government website describing the conditions of the school.	Limited description of the qualities that the school either has or lacks, no criteria on what they are marking the school on conditions the place may have.

Kindicare	Explains what the pre-school has to offer, its capacity, and what its registered under.	Compares its current rating compared to the average in the area (Grafton South), as well as a Kindicare rating on their services, comparing it to the rating of the area	Limited description of said rating, as the provider has not provided details of the services offered at this centre.
kid.com.au	Lists some quick facts such as how long the school has been around for, its location & contacts, and its updated quality area ratings with how it has progressed throughout the years, alongside a comparison between other schools nearby.	Shows census data describing the area's income, median age, population, as well as comparing its scores with nearby schools in Grafton.	Limited details on what criteria's they are meeting, as well as what directly they are working towards.
SNAICC	This list people and schools that part took in celebrating culture and community of the aboriginal people.	This is an organization that host and celebrates all culture and community. Of the aboriginal community the host their celebration and gatherings in many different states.	Limited information on the cultural actives done at the celebration

Rights	What our evidence suggests	What we still need to understand
Right People	The cultural centre has key community members giving input on the structure of the events it holds	We are unsure about the specific hierarchy of who oversees specific elements of the program.
Right Place	Due to having a dedicated centre, safe dialogue is facilitated and encouraged	There are limited descriptions on how the facilities are currently run versus how they were run before.
Right Language	Community seems happy with these events, showing that they are being appropriate and respecting the culture	There isn't much information on how facts are checked regarding teachings
Right Time	The school times are run from 8:30am-5:30pm, and events that school proposes runs during these times.	Not sure of what the times of the general population are, so we can't make a good judgement on if the timings are convenient for them (the adults & elders).
Right Way	All events and activities culturally respectful manner, respecting overarching frameworks and cultural heritage.	The events put upon and their Facebook page lack exact information.
